Top Five Reasons Family Member Out-of-Pocket Medical Expenses Were Not Reimbursed

- The medical bill was previously paid by Other Health Insurance (OHI), so there was not patient responsibility for the charge(s).
- The charge was previously submitted (a duplicate bill was filed).
- Diagnosis code(s) on the medical bill is not covered for the approved condition (bill was sent for clinical review and it was determined the medical procedures(s) were not related to the approved condition).
- The family member/provider did not submit an OHI Explanation of Benefits.
- Prescription not covered by approved drug formulary listing. (After Nurse review, medication still not determined related to approved condition.)
